

The Misses Betty and Louise Barber, with Duncan G. Reade and Harold F. Gibson, photographed in their costumes at the Bal Masque Vert at the Ritz-Carlton, given by Mr. and Mrs. H. Edward Manville for their daughter, Miss Estelle, and their son, H. Edward, Jr.
Photo, the Dupont Atelier.

Above—One of the many charming young women of society at the Bal Masque Vert given by Mr. and Mrs. Manville was Miss Marie Thayer.
Photo, the Dupont Atelier.

At left—Miss Olive Penniman as a Christmas tree at the Bal Masque Vert in the Ritz-Carlton. The costumes were in all shades of green.
Photo, the Dupont Atelier.

Above—Mr. and Mrs. Whitney Kernochan photographed just after their wedding. The bride was Mrs. Helen Gaynor Bedford, a daughter of the late Mayor Gaynor.
Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

In circle—Miss Florence E. Allen, the first woman judge of the Common Pleas Court of Ohio. She was assistant prosecutor of Cuyahoga county just before her elevation to the bench.
Photo, International.

The Hon. Mrs. Wilfred Gough, wife of Captain Gough of the Welsh Guards, here to visit America. She was Miss Sylvia Cawston, daughter of a distinguished British family.
Copyright, E. O. Hoppe, N. Y.

Miss Ruth Draper, granddaughter of the late Charles A. Dana, who will give a series of monologues in New York.
Copyright, E. O. Hoppe, N. Y.

Miss Katharine Francis, who wore one of the most attractive costumes at the Bal Masque Vert recently given at the Ritz-Carlton.
Photo, the Dupont Atelier.